 6. Adjust seasonings to taste
- you may want to double the amounts listed and serve in tortilla / taco shell with the fixings as desired.

Revival Meal Ideas:

1. Stuffed peppers: Combine leftover rice with leftover beef taco mix (1:1 ratio) to make tasty stuffed peppers. Try red, yellow or orange....

Simply slice top off of the peppers, remove seeds, fill with rice and beef mixture and place on a baking sheet lined with parchment paper (cheap at Costco). Bake at 400 °F until the peppers are soft but not mushy and the rice/beef mix is heated through (25 minutes will heat everything through and soften the pepper up a bit. 350°F for 45 minutes is great if you want a softer pepper). Top with grated cheese in the last few minutes if desired

2. Taco Grilled Cheese:

Turn oven onto broil. Butter one side of your favorite bread and place in frying fry on medium heat. Put generous portion of taco mix on bread and top with shredded cheese. When bottom of bread is nicely toasted transfer frying pan to oven and broil until cheese is melted. Add second slice of bread under broiler to toast until just browned. when cheese is melted remove from oven top with tomato slices, avocado, lettuce, then top with toasted bread

3. Taco Pizza:

Simply top Greek pita with leftover taco mixture, shredded mozzarella, diced tomato, peppers or hot peppers (if desired), fresh spinach and grated fresh lime or lemon peel (optional) and bake pizza as you normally would.

Consider buying extra ground beef and on a Sunday making up a batch of beef Bolognese as well. Try this one at <https://www.nigella.com/recipes/members/redhead43s-spaghetti-bolognese> or <https://www.jamieoliver.com/recipes/beef-recipes/spaghetti-bolognese/>
